

Stewart Merritt

Department of Modern Languages and Literature
smerritt@cis-spain.com

Assistant Professor of Literature and Thesis

- Candidate to Ph.D. in North American Studies, Universidad de Alcalá de Henares Madrid, Spain
- Master in North American Studies October, Universidad de Alcalá de Henares Madrid, Spain
- Master in Bilingual and Multicultural Education, Universidad de Alcalá de Henares Madrid, Spain
- Bachelor of Arts in Humanities, San Francisco State University San Francisco, CA, USA
- Cambridge CELTA Certified (Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages), International House Bogotá, Colombia

Areas of interest and research

Educational theory
Multicultural education
Literature of the 20th century
Historical links between Spain and the United States.

Short biography

Stewart Merritt is a native of Meadow Vista, California. He has lived in Spain since 2016, when he began his post-graduate studies at the Universidad de Alcalá. After completing masters degrees in Bilingual Education and North American Studies, he has begun a Phd program focussed on the censorship of North American literature during the Franco dictatorship. In addition to Spain, he has lived and taught in Colombia and South Korea.