360° VISION UNIVERSITY LIFE IN MADRID

The CIS University Pre-College Summer Program is designed to give students a 360 vision of what life is like at an American university in Madrid.

Students will learn about the demands of a degree, both in terms of knowledge and skills. The aim of the program is to prepare and guide participants in figuring out what steps to take in their university life; from what career path to choose to what tools they have to handle their four years at university.

WHAT TO EXPECT FROM THIS PROGRAM?

- > Learning the career opportunities available and deciding which degree best suits your preferences, skills and future goals.
- > Learning necessary personal skills for optimal university performance.
- > Discovering the best competences to boost your academic and professional future.
- > Getting a global vision of how university life works.
- > Earning a diploma certifying the completion of the program and a Personal Development Report.
